I Found A Baby Mammal \textbf{What should I do now?}

\textbf{Is the baby mammal injured or sick?} (bleeding, shivering, vomiting, covered in ants, attacked by a cat or dog)

- no
  - Can you find the nest or den? Is it intact?
    - no
      - Place baby in shallow box close to where she was found. Keep her warm but out of the sun
    - yes
      - Place the baby in the nest or den
      - Allow the mother 4 - 6 hours to return. (Stay away from the area. The mother will not return if there are people or other animals in the area.)
      - Did the mother return?
        - yes
          - Leave the baby alone.
        - no
          - Call WRR’s 24-Hour Emergency Hotline (830) 336-2725

- yes
  - Call WRR’s 24-Hour Emergency Hotline (830) 336-2725

\textbf{If you find a fawn:}
Mother deer leave their fawns for 12 - 14 hours each day, only returning at dawn and dusk to feed them. If you find a fawn and she or she is nor crying or injured, leave the fawn there and check back in 24 - 48 hours. If he or she is still there, is crying out, or is injured contact WRR’s 24-hr hotline at 830-336-2725 right away. \textbf{Do not give the fawn anything to eat or drink.}

\textbf{A baby's best chance for survival is with his or her mother in the wild.}

\textbf{NOTE:} Human scent left on the baby will NOT keep the mother from taking back her baby.
